Outstanding prospects for Anuga 2019

10 trade shows under one roof: Clear structure with new themes

Six months before the event begins, very good registration figures have been recorded for the coming Anuga in Cologne from 5 to 9 October 2019. In total, around 7,400 exhibitors from around 100 countries are expected to participate. Anuga, the world's biggest and most important business platform for the international food industry by far, will thus also be the benchmark for all food trade fairs worldwide again in 2019, in terms of both quality and quantity. In 2019 the event is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

In addition to numerous, large market leaders, the majority of the international group organisers have also confirmed their participation at the trade fair, indeed at all 10 trade shows.

"10 trade fairs under one roof": Once again in 2019, the successful concept of Anuga will ensure a good overview and a well-arranged layout divided up into themed areas.

Anuga Fine Food - the trade show for delicatessen, gourmet and basic food - the largest of the Anuga trade shows unites a comprehensive and diversified offer from all over the globe. Numerous nations take part here at joint pavilions, which present the typical food and regional specialities of their home country. Cross-cutting issues such as halal, superfoods or functional foods are also at home here.

Anuga Frozen Food - the trade show for frozen food

The frozen food segment is one of the most important trendsetters within the trade and on the hospitality and foodservice market. The manufacturers are not as successful at presenting new products and continually improved solutions that are more convenient for the consumers in hardly any other segment. At Anuga, the international industry regularly presents its innovations for both channels - the food trade and the out-of-home market.

Anuga Meat - the trade show for meat, sausages, game and poultry

Comprising of the sub-segments sausages, red meat and poultry, the world's largest business platform for the meat market offers the trade buyers an excellent orientation. The ever increasingly more important meat alternatives, whether vegan or vegetarian sausage products or meat products made of insects also find their platform here.
